Alexei de Quincey

Born Unknown

Species Vampire

Favorite weapon Teeth

De Quincey was the head of the London vampire clan in the late Victorian period. When the Shadowhunters of the London Enclave raided de Quincey's hideout in Chelsea, they came across very unpleasant wallpaper. De Quincey had commissioned an elaborate design involving hundreds of screaming humans, writhing on a blood-red background.

Axel Mortmain (Hollingworth Shade)

Born 1803

Species Mundane human

Favorite weapon Automaton army

Mortmain had an unusual upbringing, for he was adopted and raised by two warlocks, John and Anne Shade. He gained his love of the mechanical from John, who was fascinated by the possibilities of combining magic with clockwork. After Axel's death, the Clave searched his properties. At his residence they found a hidden room filled entirely with music boxes. It is not known whether they were created by John, Axel, or another person entirely. None had magical properties. All of them were well cared for, and had been frequently used.

Cecily Herondale

Born 1863

Species Nephilim

Married name Lightwood

Favorite weapon Blades

Family Herondale

Even before training as a Shadowhunter, Cecily had uncommonly good aim. The Herondale children would make a game of throwing rocks to knock objects like pinecones and empty kitchen canisters off of fence posts, and Cecily annoyed her older siblings greatly with her innate skill.

Charlotte Branwell

Born 1855

Species Nephilim

Maiden name Fairchild

Favorite weapon Sword

Family Fairchild, Unknown

Charlotte and her father Granville Fairchild did not always see eye to eye, but there was one place in which they always enjoyed each other's company: at the chessboard. Granville taught his daughter to play when she was seven years old, and the game afforded them an opportunity to spend time together over the course of many years.

Species	Warlock, Demon
Favorite weapon	Spells

Little is known of the history of the Dark Sisters, who terrified London in the 1870s, yet their strong connection with each other was undeniable. Records of two women sounding very much like them have been found dating back to the 1600s, when the sisters were forced into seclusion by witch hunts. It is unknown why Mrs. Dark, a demon, chose to spend so much time in a dangerous part of the human world. Possibly it was because she could not bring her sister with her to the demon realms.

Edmund Herondale

Born 1835

Species Nephilim (exiled)

Favorite weapon n/a

Family Herondale, Unknown

Edmund Herondale left the Shadowhunter world as a young man, but his children, Will and Cecily Herondale, chose to step back into that world. To Edmund's delight, his son and daughter and their families found ways to visit around the holidays every year. Their appearance was cause for much merry-making, and Edmund would make a point of baking gingerbread, his one specialty, when they arrived.

Gabriel Lightwood

Born 1860

Species Nephilim

Favorite weapon Seraph blade

Family Lightwood, Pangborn

Gabriel was not particularly close with his father. After his brother Gideon Lightwood moved to Spain, Gabriel was rather lonely. He read his way through the library, learned to identify the plants in the gardens, and even briefly considered learning topiary. It was at this critical juncture that Benedict Lightwood became suddenly interested in his younger son, inviting Gabriel to accompany him on Shadowhunter business and holding court in his study late into the night, telling Gabriel stories of their glorious family history. Regrettably, many of these stories were completely made up, or drastically altered from their true form to fit Benedict's purposes.

Henry Branwell

Born 1856

Species Nephilim

Favorite weapon Varied, all invented by Henry himself

Family Branwell, Unknown

Henry was an inventor from the time he was small. His parents were alternately amused and frustrated by his desire to redesign common household appliances. After a particularly frightening incident with a wringer mangle, Henry was encouraged to turn his creativity to mechanical pursuits that were not related to household chores. This inadvertently steered him towards the boundary-breaking work that eventually made him famous.

Jem Carstairs

Born 1861

Species Nephilim

Favorite weapon Sword

Family Carstairs, Ke

Jem's journey back to himself when he left the Silent Brothers was not an easy one. Unsure how to process the years he had spent in a distant emotional and physical state, Jem eventually turned to music. At first his ability to play the violin was nowhere near what it had been before he joined the Gregori, but that was acceptable. Jem wasn't aiming for technical skill. He was aiming for a nonverbal way to express what he had lost and what he had gained, and he found it.

Family Lovelace, Unknown

Jessamine's ghost guarded the London Institute for many decades, but her behavior wasn't always benevolent. If she disapproved of a resident's fashion choices, they might find the offending articles missing, sometimes replaced by clothing that Jessamine deemed worthy. Since she had no way to leave the Institute, these garments were borrowed from other residents, causing much confusion.

Linette Owens

Born 1839

Species Mundane human

Married name Herondale

When Linette's children, Will and Cecily Herondale, would bring their families to visit at holiday times, Linette was fond of corralling everyone into games. Charades and Pass the Slipper were favorites. Forfeits was popular among the children, but usually led to fights between Will and Gabriel Lightwood. Linette tried to steer the family away from games involving wagers, because of her husband Edmund's nearly ruinous penchant for gambling.

Nathaniel Gray

Born 1859

Species Mundane human

Favorite weapon Deceit

As a child, Nate Gray was briefly interested in sketching. It was a relatively low-cost hobby for the cash-strapped Gray family, and they used scrap paper whenever they could get it. While he had talent, Nate was frustrated by his inability to convey the images exactly how he saw them in his mind's eye. He became belligerent and short-tempered about practicing. His sister, Tessa Gray, and their guardian Harriet Moore were both relieved when he gave up the hobby.

Born 1862
Species Nephilim
Maiden name Lightwood
Favorite weapon n/a
Family Lightwood, Pangborn

Tatiana had very little time with her mother, Barbara Lightwood, for the latter died tragically when Tatiana was only a baby. As a young girl Tatiana became prone to fits of inarticulate rage, blaming her mother's absence on her brothers, Gabriel and Gideon Lightwood. Tatiana felt she had been cheated, and was extremely jealous of the time her brothers had spent with their mother. Her feelings of rage only intensified when her father was transformed into a giant worm that devoured her fiancé in front of her.

Woolsey Marmaduke Scott

Born Unknown

Species Werewolf

Favorite weapon Biting wit

Woolsey founded the Praetor Lupus to honor the brother who raised him, Ralf Scott, who was killed by vampires. The organization's mission to help newly turned and struggling Downworlders was in marked contrast to Woolsey's flippant style, but he was serious about creating an institution that would last. Woolsey credits his brother Ralf for giving him the space to become his own person, even though the two brothers had wildly different attitudes and ambitions. Ralf always encouraged his younger brother to follow his own path, and Woolsey was grateful to be able to make his brother's wishes into reality.

Christopher Lightwood

Born 1887

Species Nephilim

Favorite weapon His own inventions

Family Lightwood, Herondale

Christopher Lightwood was lucky to find a mentor in his family's old friend, Henry Branwell. Henry's eccentricities paved the way for Christopher in their community; by the time Christopher came along, his parents and their friends were familiar with the ins and outs of life with a creative (yet absent-minded) genius. Though the Clave frowns on experimentation, Christopher's family supported his curiosity and innovation.

Thomas Lightwood

Born 1885

Species Nephilim

Favorite weapon Broadsword

Family Lightwood, Ashdown

Thomas Lightwood was unhealthy when he was a child. His concerned family kept a close eye on him—a little too close. Thomas craved solitude, and was frustrated by the constant attentions of his older sisters. One day when he was left unattended, Thomas found a hole in a crumbling wall in the garden. The opening, obscured behind an evergreen bush, led to the surrounding forest. Thereafter, when Thomas was in need of peace and quiet, he'd slip away and walk among the trees of Idris, composing songs and stories in his mind.

Camille Belcourt

Born Unknown

Species Vampire

Favorite weapon Manipulation

As an ancient vampire, Camille had many opportunities to reinvent herself. A little known chapter of her history was her ill-fated brush with millinery. In the early 1800s, Camille began designing extravagant hats. For vampires, she favored rich colors and jewels to contrast with their unnatural pallor. For werewolves, earth tones and striking textures were employed. Camille did not often have the opportunity to design for warlocks, but when she did she made reference to the magical specialties of her clients in the materials she chose. The hats she made for the fey often featured moss and enchanted, undying flowers. All of her hats had magic woven through them, and it was those enchantments that brought this chapter of her life to a sudden end. Quite a large number of the hats began to move of their own accord, and some became aggressive. No warlock has admitted to helping Camille create these unfortunate hats, and she has never revealed the identity of her magical helper... possibly because she enacted some horrible revenge upon them.

Catarina's specialty is healing magic. She has worked in a wide variety of medical settings in the mundane human world, from field hospitals in times of war to state-of-the-art clinics. In cases of extreme need, Catarina has even used portal magic to treat and extract earthquake victims, but the risk of using such magic is great. In general, Catarina prefers to hang back until her healing magic will count the most. Because of her involvement with mundane institutions, Catarina has expertise on navigating the mundane world that many individuals from the Shadow World lack. She's a great resource to mundane humans, Shadowhunters, and Downworlders alike.

Céline Herondale

Born 1971
Species Nephilim
Maiden name Montclair
Favorite weapon Unknown
Family Montclair, Unknown

Céline struggled with not belonging during her early life. She grew up in an abusive situation, with parents who treated her brutally and rarely showed her any kindness. As a child, Céline often ran away from home, sometimes staying away for days at a time. Though she was frequently hungry, those days of solitude were her rare moments of peace. In the many stressful moments of her life, she would recall those days spent walking in the forest or along roads, blissfully anonymous. She could be anyone, going anywhere. Before meeting Valentine Morgenstern and joining up with the Circle, Céline was considering continuing her path of solitude and becoming an Iron Sister, but after her hellish upbringing she chafed at the idea of the discipline required. The Circle gave her a place to belong without total isolation, where she had friends and comrades. She threw herself into their world, unaware of the devastating consequences her loyalty would have.

Chairman Meow

Born 2005

Species Cat

Favorite weapon Innate charm

The warlock Magnus Bane found Chairman Meow abandoned in an alley near his apartment building. Chairman Meow was in a dilapidated cardboard box along with three other kittens. After several days of four-kitten hijinks, Magnus cast a spell to determine which of his neighbors were most in need of a kitten, and dispersed the other three to some very surprised mundane humans. Chairman Meow made it clear he had no intention of leaving by clinging to Magnus any chance he got.

Family Fairchild, Morgenstern

Clary Fray hasn't let her responsibilities as a Shadowhunter interfere with her artistic life. After the Dark War, Clary set up a studio space in an unused bedroom at the New York Institute, near the music room. She devotes several hours a week to drawing and painting, and sometimes her mother, Jocelyn Fray, joins her. Jace Herondale often uses those same hours to play the piano.

Clary was given her middle name, Adele, to honor her maternal grandmother, but the name has a long history among the Nephilim.

Jonathan Christopher Morgenstern

Born 1990

Species Nephilim

Favorite weapon Broadsword (Phaesphoros)

Family Morgenstern, Fairchild

In his youth, Jonathan Morgenstern was frequently left on his own. His father, Valentine Morgenstern, had a whole other life separate from Jonathan, complete with a second “son” who lived in Wayland Manor. Jonathan disliked being left alone, and his restlessness caused him to devise subtle tricks to play on Valentine. He routinely rearranged the papers on Valentine’s desk, hid his favorite stele, and taught Hugin and Munin bad behaviors, such as taking people’s hats off and tearing their clothes. Valentine, while annoyed, was secretly relieved that his son was not doing much, much worse.

Luke may have been living a double life when he opened Garroway Books in Williamsburg, but his love of literature was no cover story. Luke was primarily raised by his older sister Amatis Graymark, after their mother left to become an Iron Sister. Life wasn't easy for the Graymark children, but books proved to be a refuge and an escape for Luke. One of his fondest dreams was to have his own bookstore someday.

Wolfsbane & Knight

Magnus Bane

Born Unknown

Species Warlock

Favorite weapon Magic, devastating charm

After a streak of partying too hard in the 1970s, Magnus decided he needed to develop more introverted habits. He had a brief encounter with philately (stamp-collecting), but found all the sorting rather tedious. An interest in cultivating Bonsai trees followed, but was rather pointless for someone who could manipulate the size of plants at will. Realizing that he needed a more lively hobby, Magnus made a habit of throwing elaborate theme parties, an activity that suited him much better.

Acorn @ Immortality

Maia Roberts

Born 1990

Species Werewolf

Favorite weapon Wolf form

Maia loves vinyl records. She has an extensive collection of albums, and makes time in her busy schedule of Praetor Lupus business to attend concerts and visit record stores. After re-establishing the Praetor Lupus, Maia got a second tattoo: a botanical illustration of the wolfsbane plant, Aconitum.

Werewolf business aside, Maia got her GED, and followed it with a degree in business studies from Brooklyn College. She's considering opening a nightclub with Bat Velasquez.

Gladiolus 🌸 Strength of Character

Malcolm Fade

Born Unknown

Species Warlock

Favorite weapon Magic

Living in Los Angeles, Malcolm has been unable to avoid occasional participation in the movie business. Usually hired by producers who crave a dash of true showbiz magic, the warlock has been known to become too invested in the storylines of films, relentlessly pushing for happy endings. He doesn't have many repeat clients.

Witch Hazel & Spells

Maryse Lightwood

Born 1968
Species Nephilim
Maiden name Trueblood
Favorite weapon Broadsword
Family Trueblood, Unknown

Maryse was unusually short until she hit a dramatic growth spurt in her early teens. Young Maryse refused to let her stature limit the sort of weapons she would train with, but the broadsword evaded her. When she finally shot up, Maryse was delighted to be able to wield the giant weapon, and it has been a favorite of hers ever since.

Maryse Lightwood

Lotus  Estranged Love

Maureen Brown

Born 1993

Species Vampire

Favorite weapon Teeth

When Maureen is spoken of, she is usually recalled as a vicious vampire queen. It is rarely acknowledged that before she was Turned, she had relatively ordinary hobbies: knitting, soccer, and playing the piano. She was also a Girl Scout, but was too shy to make much money from cookie sales.

Maureen Brown

Black Rose ~ Obsession

Maxwell Joseph Lightwood

Born 1998

Species Nephilim

Favorite weapon Unknown

Family Lightwood, Trueblood

Before his untimely death, Max was an enthusiastic reader. While there are few children's books written for Shadowhunters, the New York Institute did have an extensive library of folk and fairy tales from around the world. Max devoured these eagerly. The tales of dark magic and beasts resonated with him, for he routinely watched his family go off to fight demons and face danger.

Max Lightwood

Harebell ~ Grief

Max Michael Lightwood-Bane

Born 2009

Species Warlock

Favorite weapon Unknown

Family Lightwood, Bane

Max enjoys books and playing with common household objects. The identities of his biological human parent and demon parent are unknown. He calls Alec “dad” and Magnus “papa.” He wants to be a pirate.

Lavender Rose ∞ Enchantment

Meliorn

Born	Unknown
Species	Half-human, half fey
Favorite weapon	Deceit

As a half-human, Meliorn was not easily accepted by many of the fey. Despite living among them for over a hundred years, many faeries considered him an outsider. The Seelie Queen was one of his few true allies. From the time Meliorn was a child, she made it known that he had a place at her court, a position that granted him social standing he otherwise would not have held. He repaid her with his loyalty, to the last.

Straw & Broken Contract

Michael Wayland

Born 1965

Species Nephilim

Favorite weapon Blades

Family Wayland, Unknown

After leaving the Shadowhunter Academy, Michael became fascinated by his lineage as a Wayland. He began to teach himself how to make weapons. This was an odd hobby for a Shadowhunter, for the Nephilim usually rely on the Iron Sisters to keep them armed. Michael's blades were no objects of beauty; they were crude but well balanced. Michael's forge still stands behind the wreckage of Wayland Manor.

Michaelmas Daisy = Farewell

Rafael Santiago Lightwood-Bane

Born 2007

Species Nephilim

Favorite weapon Unknown

Family Lightwood, Bane

Rafael loves music, especially lullabies in Spanish. He also enjoys dancing, hide and seek, and light-up sneakers. The identities of his birth parents are unknown.

Rafael Santiago Lightwood-Bane

Persicaria ~ Restoration

Ragnor Fell

Born Unknown

Species Warlock

Favorite weapon Magic

After Ragnor's murder, few felt his absence as strongly as Catarina Loss. As warlocks, the two had known each other for a very long time. Catarina has a tendency to overwork, and Ragnor had a unique ability to convince her to take time off. On these spontaneous vacations, the two went hiking, visited hot springs and unusual geological formations. Occasionally they invited Magnus Bane along, but he didn't enjoy roughing it quite as much as they did.

Ragnor Fell

Lemon Blossom ~ Discretion

Raphael Santiago

Born 1937

Species Vampire

Favorite weapon Bite

Raphael was admired for his leadership of the New York vampire clan. When he was killed, the clan wanted to honor his memory. After much debate, it was decided that the best honor would be to contribute to the health of the East Harlem neighborhood that is the home of the Hotel Dumort, since Raphael had grown up nearby. The presence of nocturnal good samaritans picking up trash, shoveling snow, and making sure residents get home safe is occasionally remarked upon by the mundane neighbors.

Fleur de Lis & Flame of Power

Robert Lightwood

Born 1965

Species Nephilim

Favorite weapon Broadsword

Family Lightwood, Gladstone

When Robert and Maryse Lightwood were banished to the New York Institute, they went through a period of shock and mourning. The disaster that was the Uprising and their subsequent departure from Idris left them reeling. Robert found comfort in a surprisingly tender activity: reading aloud to his children. Alec Lightwood was two years old, and Isabelle Lightwood only a baby, but Robert spent hours reading aloud to them from classic novels, history books, and even Clave documents.

Jasmine ∞ Separation

Seelie Queen

Born Unknown

Species Fey

Favorite weapon The desires of human hearts

The Seelie Queen keeps the details of her past closely guarded from mortals, vampires, and warlocks alike. She is famously cruel, but there have been times when she has shown something resembling kindness. When the half-faerie Meliorn was brought to her court, there were those who mocked him for his human blood. The Queen was not one of them. She treated him as a full faerie— better, even— and swiftly punished any who treated him unfairly.

Dog Rose & Pleasure & Pain

Simon Lewis

Born 1990

Species Nephilim (Ascendant)

Favorite weapon Bow and arrow

When Simon became a Shadowhunter, he wanted to find ways to keep in touch with his family that would not involve sharing too many details of his life. He and his sister Rebecca Lewis found a creative way to communicate: they're collaborating on an epic, exquisite-corpse style manuscript, alternating sentences via text message. The story involves space travel, warring kingdoms, and many types of aliens. Honestly, it's really hard to follow.

Geranium & True Friendship

Stephen William Herondale

Born 1966

Species Nephilim

Favorite weapon Longsword

Family Herondale, Whitelaw

When Stephen was a child, he was fond of quilting. He had learned the skill from his grandmother, Arabella Whitelaw. Imogen Herondale did not get along with her mother. Jealous of Arabella's closeness with her son, Imogen cruelly mocked him for the hobby. After Arabella died, Stephen gave up quilting... where anyone could see. Amatis Herondale, Stephen's ex-wife, admitting to seeing him take a few stitches when he needed to unwind after a long day.

Evening Primrose & Unfaithfulness

The Band: Eric, Kirk & Matt

Born 1990

Species Mundane human

Favorite weapon Terrible lyrics

The Mortal Instruments (as they are now known) are alternately celebrated and scolded for their wild antics onstage. Elaborate costumes, fireworks, and dry ice are employed, as well as giant puppets and olfactory components. “It isn’t just a show,” says frontman Eric Hillchurch, “It’s a full sensory experience.”

Valentine Morgenstern

Born 1968

Species Nephilim

Favorite weapon Manipulation

Family Morgenstern, Unknown

When he was young, Valentine Morgenstern distinguished himself with an unusual skill for carving. His masterpiece, created at age fourteen, was a chess set carved from bone and horn. He wouldn't say where he got the raw materials. He gave up the craft soon after.

Tales from the Shadowhunter Academy

Beatriz Velez Mendoza

Born 1991

Species Nephilim

Favorite weapon Seraph blade

Family Mendoza, Velez

When Beatriz was young, she overcame a debilitating fear of heights and went on to excel at rock climbing. This early triumph gifted her with the determination that has enabled her to become a highly skilled Shadowhunter.

Protea Learning

George Lovelace

Born 1990

Species Mundane human

Favorite weapon Staff

Family Lovelace (lapsed)

Growing up on a farm, George was no stranger to hard work. The physical labor he engaged in gave him plenty of time to daydream, and he often did, imagining a more adventurous life for himself. He shared some of these daydreams with his grandmother, who claimed to have had encounters with faeries. She encouraged him to write his daydreams down, turn them into stories, but doing so did not satisfy George. He wanted the stories to be real. Being offered the chance to attend the Shadowhunter Academy was quite literally a dream come true.

George Lovelace

Strawberry ~ Future Promise

Tobias Herondale

Born Unknown
Species Nephilim (exiled)
Favorite weapon n/a
Family Herondale, Unknown

Tobias Herondale had too gentle of a soul to make a good Shadowhunter. As a child, his parents were deeply concerned about his mild nature, and pushed him to harden himself. Their challenges had the opposite effect; the more they leaned on him to behave as befits a warrior, the more passive he became. This cycle set the stage for his eventual disgrace.

Pennyroyal ~ Flee Away

The Dark Artifices

Arthur Blackthorn

Born 1973

Species Nephilim

Favorite weapon Dagger

Family Blackthorn, Unknown

When Arthur lived in London, he conducted research at the city's many museums. He went so far as to befriend several mundane curators in order to gain access to collections that were not ordinarily open to the public. Arthur could be unexpectedly charming, when he felt his work depended on it.

Daffodil 🌼 Return my Affection

Cristina Mendoza Rosales

Born 1994

Species Nephilim

Favorite weapon Balisong

Family Rosales, Mendoza

Cristina loved the gardens at the Mexico City Institute. In her early teens, she took to setting up targets so that she could practice throwing knives among the plants and shrubs. After she and Jaime Rosales frightened several visiting Shadowhunters, Cristina had to admit that knife-throwing and relaxing gardens are better kept separate.

Ginger Flower 🌸 I Have my Pride

Drusilla Blackthorn

Born 1999

Species Nephilim

Favorite weapon Unknown

Family Blackthorn, Unknown

Drusilla's brother Tiberius Blackthorn has a fascination with Sherlock Holmes, but Drusilla herself went through a detective phase as well. Emma Carstairs brought a box of Nancy Drew books home from a junk shop, and Drusilla made short work of them. "Sometimes it's nice to read an adventure story without any demons," she observed.

Purple Tulip 🌷 Daydreaming

Emma Cordelia Carstairs

Born 1995

Species Nephilim

Favorite weapon Cortana

Family Carstairs, Townsend

When Emma moved in with the Blackthorns at age twelve, she felt she had to create her own niche within the family. In between intensive training sessions, Emma would ride her bike to rummage sales and antique stores, picking up odd knick-knacks and toys, old books and magazines to share with the Blackthorn children.

Johnny Rook

Born Unknown

Species Unknown

Favorite weapon Sorcery

Johnny Rook has had a booth at the Shadow Market since he was a teenager. At first the denizens of the market dismissed him as a young, foolish mundane, but Johnny's determination and uncanny knack for gathering information soon won him a respected place among their number.

Johnny Rook

Mock Orange 🌸 Deceit

Julian Atticus Blackthorn

Born 1995

Species Nephilim

Favorite weapon Crossbow

Family Blackthorn, Unknown

The Blackthorn children generally respect that their older brother Julian needs time to paint. Their mother, a painter and photographer, emphasized the importance of creative work, and while they lost her early in their lives, her influence has shaped the family. Julian carries on her ideas about creativity beyond his own painting. He encourages his siblings to pursue their own individual interests, helping them in any way he can.

Black Tulip 🌷 Hopelessness

Livia Blackthorn

Born 1997

Species Nephilim

Favorite weapon Saber

Family Blackthorn, Unknown

Of all the Blackthorn siblings, Livvy is the most mathematically minded. Her siblings turn to her when they struggle with math, and she helps her brother Tiberius with the mathematical aspect of coding. Livia is fascinated by fractal patterns. The Blackthorn's tutor, Diana Wrayburn, occasionally finds herself wishing that Livia could have the opportunity to attend college and study higher level math.

Mark Antony Blackthorn

Born 1991

Species Nephilim

Favorite weapon Elf bolt

Family Blackthorn

When he was ten years old, Mark Blackthorn was the resident pillow fort expert of the Los Angeles Institute. Many rainy days found Mark, the younger Blackthorns, and Emma Carstairs scouring the building for blankets and cushions, which they then rigged up into elaborate structures under Mark's supervision. Mark's older sister, Helen Blackthorn, could sometimes be convinced to join in as well.

Rose Leaves ❁ Please Believe Me

Octavian Blackthorn

Born 2004

Species Nephilim

Favorite weapon Unknown

Family Blackthorn, Unknown

There is a significant age gap between Octavian and his siblings, with Drusilla Blackthorn closest at five years his senior. This distance has encouraged him to cultivate his imagination and ability to entertain himself. Even when he was small, Octavian was frequently content to play by himself. He learned to read when he was only four, and mutual love of reading strengthened his connection with Drusilla.

Octavian Blackthorn

White Carnation ❁ Innocence

Tiberius Nero Blackthorn

Born 1997

Species Nephilim

Favorite weapon Quarterstaff

Family Blackthorn, Unknown

Tiberius has always been fond of bees. While not as artistically inclined as his older brother Julian Blackthorn, Tiberius has been able to draw surprisingly realistic insects since he was young. He's especially proud of the ones that look real out of the corner of the observer's eye. He's managed to startle even his own siblings with them.
