CHAPTER 1

THE 65-STOREY TREEHOUSE

Hi, my name is Andy.
This is my friend Terry.

We live in a tree.

Well, when I say 'tree', I mean treehouse. And when I say 'treehouse', I don't just mean any old treehouse—I mean a 65-storey treehouse! (It used to be a 52-storey treehouse, but we've added another 13 storeys.)
So what are you waiting for?
Come on up!

We've added a pet-grooming salon (run by Jill),

a birthday room (where it's always your birthday, even when it's not), an un-birthday room where the longer you stay, the younger you get (so don't stay too long or you'll end up like a little baby),

a cloning machine,

a room full of exploding eyeballs,

CHAPTER 2

ATTACK OF THE ANTS!

If you're like most of our readers, you're probably wondering whether we have a building permit for our treehouse. Well, of course we do. Terry organised it. ‘Didn’t you, Terry? Terry?! Where are you?’

TREE-NN
UPDATE

WEATHER: SUNNY WITH A CHANCE OF SUN

‘Ah, there you are,’ I say. ‘I was telling the readers how you got a permit for the treehouse.’

‘GRRRR!’ says Terry.

‘Terry,’ I say, ‘quit messing around.’

‘GRRRRR!’

He looks kind of weird. And I think I know why. He’s covered in ants!

TREE-NN UPDATE ANT-COVERED TERRY ACTING KIND OF WEIRD

‘Have you been playing in the ant farm again?’ I say.

But Terry doesn’t answer. He just reaches out and grabs me by the throat.

‘TERRY?!’ I gasp.

TREE-NN
UPDATE

ANT-COVERED TERRY ATTACKS ANDY

Just when I can hardly breathe a moment longer, another Terry rushes in.

‘Don’t worry, Andy,’ says the second Terry. ‘I’ll save you!’

The second Terry whacks the first Terry with a badminton racquet. WHAP!

And all of a sudden the air is filled with ...

ANTS!

There are ants everywhere (which is bad). But I'm not being strangled any more (which is good).

'Are you okay, Andy?' says Terry.

‘Yes,’ I say. ‘I think so, but what’s going on? Why did you attack me like that?’

‘That wasn’t me,’ says Terry. ‘It was the ants pretending to be me. I accidentally left the ant farm gate open and they escaped. I tried to get them all back in but they made themselves into a fake me and knocked me out. Then they must have come after you.’

TREE-NN
UPDATE

ANTS’ DARING ANT-FARM ESCAPE

‘But why?’ I say. ‘I didn’t do anything to them!’

‘Me, neither,’ says Terry. ‘All I know is that now they’ve turned into a giant foot and are about to stomp on us! Run!'

TREE-NN
UPDATE

STOMP! STOMP!

TREE-NN
UPDATE

STOMP!

‘What are we going to do?’ says Terry.

‘There’s only one thing we can do,’ I say.

‘Become dog poo, of course!’

‘Dog poo?’ says Terry. ‘But I hate dog poo!’

‘So do feet,’ I say. ‘They will do anything to avoid stepping in it.’

‘Okay,’ says Terry. ‘How do we do it?’

‘Simple,’ I say. ‘Just make yourself soft, squishy and really stinky.’

TREE-NN
UPDATE

DARING DOG POO DISGUISE!

‘How’s this?’ says Terry. ‘Stinky enough for you?’

‘Perfect,’ I say. ‘Perfectly disgusting.’

And, sure enough, the ant foot stops stomping and just hovers cautiously in the air above us.

‘It’s working!’ says Terry. ‘They can’t squash us now!’
‘No,’ I say, ‘not unless they change shape again.’

TREE-NN
UPDATE

DOG POO DUO SAVED BY STINK!

‘Oh no,’ says Terry. ‘They are changing shape again—into a giant pooper scooper!’

‘No problem,’ I say. ‘We’ll just change ourselves into a puddle of water.’

‘We’ll be safe now,’ I say. ‘Pooper scoopers can scoop up poop ... but they can’t scoop up water!’

‘We really fooled those ants,’ I say.

‘Yeah,’ says Terry. ‘Ants may be smart, but we’re even smarter.’

TREE-NN
UPDATE

SMARTYPANTS ANTS OUTSMARTED ... AGAIN!

‘But maybe not quite smart enough,’ I say. ‘Now the ants are becoming a giant paper towel. They’re going to absorb us!’

‘But I like being water!’ says Terry. ‘I don’t want to be absorbed.’

‘Me neither,’ I say. ‘But we will be unless we change back into us ... right now!’

TREE-NN
UPDATE

ABSORPTION DANGER: HIGH

We change back. We don't get absorbed (which is good. But we do get scrunched up) which is bad.

'If only we had some fire,' says Terry, 'we could burn the paper.'

TREE-NN
UPDATE

FIRE DANGER: LOW

‘I’ve got a match,’ I say, ‘but I don’t have a matchbox.’

‘That’s too bad,’ says Terry. ‘Because I’ve got a matchbox, but I don’t have a match.’

‘Hmmm,’ I say.

‘Hmmm,’ says Terry.

‘Hmmm.’

‘Hmmm.’

‘Hmmm.’

‘Hmmm.’

TREE-NN
UPDATE

FIRE DANGER: MODERATE

‘Hey,’ I say, ‘I’ve got a great idea!’

‘What?’ says Terry.

‘Why don’t we put my match and your matchbox together?’

‘That sounds dangerous,’ says Terry. ‘It might start a fire.’

‘Exactly!’ I say. ‘Take that, ants!’

TREE-NN
UPDATE

FIRE DANGER: HIGH

‘It’s working!’ says Terry. ‘The paper towel is burning up!’

‘Yes,’ I say. ‘But I think we’re burning up, too!’

‘Yeah,’ says Terry. ‘My head is getting quite hot.’

‘That’s probably because your hair is on fire,’ I say.

‘So is yours,’ says Terry.

‘AAAGGGGHHHH!’ we scream.

TREE-NN
UPDATE

FIRE DANGER: EXTREME!

But we don't scream for long, because next thing we know the ants turn into a giant hose and start blasting us and themselves with cool, fresh, fire-quenching ant-water!

TREE-NN

‘Help!’ yells Terry.

TREE-NN

WEATHER: RAINY WITH A CHANCE OF RAIN

‘Andy?’ says a familiar voice. ‘Terry? What are you doing up there?’

It’s Jill!

‘The ants went crazy and turned into a hose!’ I say.

‘Can you turn the tap off so we can get down?’ says Terry.

‘Sure thing,’ says Jill.

TREE-NN

JILL TO TURN OFF TAP!

Jill turns the hose off (at the ant-tap) ...

and Terry and I fall to the ground with a loud THUMP!

TREE-NN
UPDATE

THUMP!

‘What did you do to upset the ants?’ says Jill. ‘They appear to be very agitated.’

‘It’s Terry’s fault,’ I say. ‘He left the ant farm gate open and all the ants got out and started attacking us.’

Jill frowns. ‘When it comes to ants,’ she says, ‘a little can be a lot. I’d better have a talk to them.’

She gets down on her knees, makes her fingers into pretend antennas and wiggles them around.

TREE-NN
UPDATE

ANT-FARM ESCAPE ACCUSATIONS FLY

‘It’s not working,’ she says. ‘I’m too big. I need to be ant-sized. Can you draw me smaller, Terry?’

‘Sure, Jill,’ says Terry. ‘One ant-sized you coming up!’

Soon Jill is deep in conversation with the ants—which is not surprising, really, because Jill can talk to any animal ... even insects, and ants are insects, which is why she can talk to them.

‘What do you think they’re talking about?’ says Terry.

‘Beats me,’ I say. ‘I don’t speak Ant.’

Finally Jill turns to us and starts explaining, but her voice is just a tiny little squeak.

‘Oh, great!’ I say.

‘Now we can’t understand her because she’s too small.’

‘No problem,’ says Terry. ‘I’ll give her this micro-mini-megaphone I made last week.’

TREE-NN
UPDATE

SCIENCE: MICRO-MINI-MEGAPHONE MIRACLE

‘Thanks, Terry,’ says Jill through the micro-mini-megaphone. ‘The ants said they are very cross because you and Andy keep wrecking their ant farm.'

‘But I’m always really careful around the ants!’ I say.

‘Me too!’ says Terry. ‘I’m even more careful than Andy!’

‘And I’m even more careful than Terry!’ I say.

‘Well,’ says Jill, ‘that may be true, but perhaps you’re not being as careful as you think you are. Take a look at this.’

‘Those poor little ants,’ says Jill. ‘You owe them a really big apology.’

‘I’m really sorry,’ I say.

‘Me too,’ says Terry. ‘I’m really, really sorry.’

‘I’m even sorrier than Terry,’ I say.

‘And I’m even sorrier than Andy,’ says Terry.

‘I think the ants will be okay now,’ says Jill. ‘Just promise that, whatever you do, you WILL NEVER DISTURB THEIR ANT FARM EVER AGAIN!’

‘We promise,’ I say. ‘Don’t we, Terry?’

‘Yes,’ says Terry. ‘We really, really promise.’

‘Good,’ says Jill, leading the ants away, back to the ant farm.

Now, where was I? Oh yes, that's right, I was telling you all about the permit. Like I was saying, Terry took care of that. 'Didn't you, Terry?'
'What?' says Terry.

‘The building permit. I was telling the readers that you organised it. You did, didn’t you?’

‘Well, er, sort of,’ says Terry. ‘Except for one small problem ...’

‘Andy was trying to strangle me,’ says Terry.

‘I’ll strangle you both if your next book isn’t here by twelve o’clock today,’ says Mr Big Nose. ‘Goodbye!’

‘Letter for you,’ calls Bill the postman, distracting me and accidentally saving Terry’s life.

‘Cool,’ says Terry. ‘I love getting letters.’

We sit down and read the letter. This is what it says:

Dear Andy and Terry,

This is to inform you that I will be visiting your treehouse in one minute to check that you have a current and valid building permit.

‘What a nice letter,’ says Terry.

‘Are you crazy?’ I say. ‘He’s a building inspector and he’s coming to check if our treehouse building permit is current—the very building permit we don’t have!’

‘Tick? Tock? Hoo?’ I say. ‘What does that mean?’

‘Hmmm,’ says Terry, frowning and repeating their words. ‘Tick-Tock-Hoo ... Tick-Tock-Hoo ...’

‘Do you think Tick-Tock means something to do with time?’ I say.

‘Yes!’ says Terry. ‘And Hoo must mean Doctor Who. He’s a time traveller, right?’

‘Yeah,’ I say, ‘but how does that help us?’

‘Don’t you see?’ says Terry. ‘The wise owls are telling us we should travel back in time and get a permit for the treehouse.’

‘Fantastic!’ I say. ‘Let’s go.’

We climb up to the time-machine level.

‘So we go in here?’ I say, heading for the door.

‘That’s not the time machine,’ says Terry. ‘That’s an egg timer I built. I hate it when my eggs get over-boiled. The time machine is over here.’

‘You put it in the bin?’ I say.

‘No,’ says Terry. ‘It is the bin.’

‘But why?’ I say.

‘Well, I was reading The Time Machine by H.G. Wells,’ says Terry, ‘and I thought that time travel sounded like fun.’

‘Yes, but why a wheelie bin?’ I say.

‘Because it’s all I had,’ says Terry. ‘It’s not quite finished but it should be fine to just go back a few years to get our building permit.’

‘You go first, Andy,’ says Terry.

I climb in and Terry climbs in after me and closes the lid.

‘No,’ says Terry. ‘Well ... when I say no ... I mean yes ... but no ... well, only a little bit ...’

‘How do you drive this thing, anyway?’ I say.

‘Easy,’ says Terry. ‘Set the chronometer for how many years back—or forward—you’d like to travel and then push the blast-off button.’

WHAM!

Terry looks into the bin and checks the chronometer. 'Oh no,' he says. 'We've travelled 650 million years back in time!'

'But I only set it for six and a half years back,' I say.

'The inspector must have knocked it when he fell in,' says Terry.

‘It’s not my fault!’ says the inspector. ‘That chronometer should have a safety guard on it. And a time machine blast-off button without an emergency override directly contravenes Regulation 3, Subsection 4.5, paragraph 6, line 22 of the Time Travel Blast-off Button Act.’

‘I didn’t even know there was a Blast-off Button Act,’ says Terry.

‘Oh yes,’ says the inspector. ‘It’s right here in this book, Rules and Regulations of the World: Past, Present and Future. I never go anywhere without it.’

‘Hey, Andy,’ says Terry, ‘look at this puddle. It’s full of pond scum, and one of the pond scum looks just like you.’

‘That’s no ordinary pond scum,’ says the inspector. ‘These are the world’s earliest simple life forms. We’re witnessing the beginnings of life on Earth!’

‘You got that right, pal,’ says Pond Scum Andy. ‘But it could be the end for us any time soon.’

‘How come?’ says Terry.

‘Because the only thing keeping our puddle from drying up is that overhanging rock ledge.’

‘What do you mean we won’t exist?’ says Terry.

‘If life forms like us get burned up,’ says Pond Scum Terry, ‘then complicated life forms like you will never get the chance to evolve.’

‘Oh no!’ says Terry, looking really worried.

‘Relax,’ I say, ‘they’ll probably make it. They’ve got shade.’

‘But not for long,’ says Terry. ‘This rock ledge is cracking. I think it’s about to break!’

EVEN POND SCUM THINK TERRY IS AN IDIOT

‘That puddle should have a sun shelter over it,’ says Inspector Bubblewrap.

‘It contravenes Regulation 456, Section B, Part 2 of the Prehistoric Sun Shelter Act. I therefore declare this puddle illegal!’

‘What if we built a sun shelter?’ I say.

‘You’d need a permit for that,’ says the inspector.

‘Can you give us one?’ says Terry.

‘Well, under the circumstances and given that the future of life on Earth depends on it,’ says the inspector, ‘I think I could rush the paperwork through.’

‘Great!’ I say. ‘Let’s get started.’

‘I hope our prehistoric pond scum ancestors make it,’ says Terry.

‘Yeah,’ I say. ‘Thanks to me and my great idea about building a pond-scum sun shelter.’

‘And thanks to me for helping build it,’ says Terry.

‘And thanks to me for issuing the permit,’ says the inspector.

‘Speaking of permits,’ I say, ‘we’d better be getting to that permit office to apply for our building permit so the treehouse doesn’t have to be demolished.’

There's a loud splash and we look out to find ourselves floating in the middle of a vast grey ocean.

TREE-NN

WEATHER: WARM WITH A CHANCE OF DINOSAURS

‘Well, that’s just great,’ I say. ‘Right time, wrong place.’

‘Actually, I think you’ll find it’s the wrong time as well,’ says Terry. ‘We’ve travelled to 65 million years ago.’

‘Oh dear,’ says the inspector. ‘Sixty-five million years ago? That’s when a giant asteroid smashed into Earth and killed off the dinosaurs. We are in one of the unsafest times ever in the Earth’s history!’

‘Maybe the asteroid has already hit,’ says Terry. ‘I can’t see any dinosaurs, can you?’

‘Nah,’ I say. ‘But I’d really like to! Let’s paddle to shore and see if we can find any there.’

TREE-NN
UPDATE

ASTEROID DANGER: VERY HIGH

We paddle as fast as we can, but when we get to shore all we can see is a bunch of little monkey-like animals playing in a group.

‘Ah,’ says the inspector. ‘They look like Plesiadapis tricuspidens.’

‘Are they dinosaurs?’ says Terry.

‘No,’ says the inspector, ‘they’re some of the earliest mammals to live on Earth.’

TREE-NN

MONKEY-LIKE MAMMALS MEET EACH OTHER

‘They’re so cute!’ says Terry. ‘We should take one back for Jill.’

‘That’s not a good idea,’ says the inspector. ‘They need to stay here so they can evolve into the ancestor of apes, monkeys and humans.’

‘Monkeys?’ says Terry. ‘I hate monkeys.’

‘Me too,’ I say, ‘but that doesn’t mean we don’t share a common ancestor with them.’

‘Ugh! Speak for yourself,’ says Terry. ‘I don’t.’

TREE-NN

MONKEY-LIKE LOOK-ALIKES SPOTTED

Suddenly we hear thunderous stomping and snorting noises. The Plesiadapis stop playing and look around in alarm.

A dinosaur with an enormous nose bursts through the undergrowth and snorts at them.

‘Yikes!’ I say. ‘That dinosaur has the biggest nose I’ve ever seen!’

TREE-NN

FEARS SOAR AT DINOSAUR WITH NOSE GALORE

‘It’s a Bignoseasaur!’ says the inspector. ‘A dinosaur that is in direct contravention of the World Health Organisation’s suggested guidelines for a healthy nose-to-body ratio. It’s famous for its bad temper. The safest way to behave around one is to be very quiet and try not to be noticed.’

‘It reminds me of someone,’ says Terry, ‘but I can’t think who.’

‘This is bad,’ says the inspector. ‘If the dinosaurs are still around that means the asteroid that wiped them out hasn’t hit yet.’

‘Cool,’ I say. ‘We might get to see an asteroid!’

‘If you do, it will probably be the last thing you ever see,’ says the inspector. ‘Asteroids are very dangerous, you know. Even more dangerous than Bignoseasurs!’

TREE-NN

EXTINCTION DANGER: VERY HIGH

‘Hey!’ yells Terry, as the Bignoseasaur advances on the Plesiadapis. ‘Get away from them, you big bully!’

TREE-NN

BIGNOSEASAUR ROARS!

‘Good one, Terry,’ I say, backing away.

‘Yeah, good one, Terry,’ says the inspector.

The Bignoseasaur roars again and paws the ground.

‘It looks just like Kevin the mechanical bull when he gets mad,’ says Terry. ‘I think it’s getting ready to charge.’

‘If only we had a brightly coloured cape,’ I say. ‘Maybe we could distract it.’

‘A brightly coloured safety vest might work,’ says Terry.

‘Don’t be stupid,’ I say. ‘Where are we going to get a brightly coloured safety vest from?’

‘From the inspector,’ says Terry.

‘Well, I’m not sure about that,’ says the inspector. ‘Regulation 6 of the Brightly Coloured Safety Vest Act states that a building permit inspector should wear a brightly coloured safety vest at all times.’

‘But it’s 65 million years before that law was even invented,’ I say, ‘so, technically, you won’t be breaking it.’

‘Hmmm,’ says the inspector. ‘Technically, you might be right ... and I guess you will be using it in the interests of safety ...’ He hands me the vest.

I hold the vest out to the side, matador-style, and wave it at the Bignoseasaur.
It snorts in rage, lowers its massive nose and charges at me.

I spin at the last moment and it rushes past.
'Olé!' I say.

‘No,’ says Terry. ‘Its nose is going to explode!’

BIG-NOSE-EXPLOSION DANGER: VERY HIGH

‘Why, an explosion that big could wipe out all life on Earth!’ says the inspector. ‘Could it be possible that this is how the dinosaurs disappeared?’

‘Who cares?’ I say. ‘It’s going to be how we disappear if we don’t take cover!’

The Plesiadapis that looks like Terry starts biting the leg of his pants.

Terry scoops up the ant and puts it in his pocket.

The entrance to the burrow is small, but with a bit of pushing and shoving we all manage to get safely inside.

TREE-NN

AH ... AH ... AH ...

‘Cool burrow,’ says Terry.

‘And very safe,’ says the inspector. ‘You can’t beat a good underground bunker. And I see we have food supplies for some time.’

‘What sort of food?’ says Terry.

‘Looks like dragonflies, fern fronds and a primitive form of marshmallow.’

‘Prehistoric marshmallows!’ says Terry, shoving a handful into his mouth and then immediately spitting them out. That’s not marshmallow ... that’s fungus!’

‘What do you think marshmallows are made of?’ says the inspector.

But before Terry can register the full horror of what the inspector has just said, there is a huge explosion above us.

We emerge from the burrow. There's an enormous smoking crater where the Bignoseasaur had been.

Everything is covered in thick green goo and there are piles of dead dinosaurs everywhere.

‘Eurgh,’ I say. ‘Let’s get out of here.’

‘But what about the Plesiadapis?’ says Terry. ‘They saved our lives.’

‘And we saved theirs,’ I say. ‘Fair trade.’

‘But the prehistoric world is so dangerous,’ says Terry. ‘Can’t we take them with us?’

‘No, I already explained that,’ says the inspector. ‘If we took them with us, they wouldn’t evolve and we wouldn’t be able to exist. But just to be on the safe side—and if it makes you feel better—I’ll give them all a bit of extra protection.’

The inspector gets out his roll of bubble wrap and makes little bubble-wrap suits for all the Plesiadapis.

‘I hope you’re right,’ says the inspector, as we climb into the bin and close the lid.

‘Me too,’ I say. ‘I think I’ve had enough history for one day.’

‘Well,’ I say, ‘is this six and a half years before the treehouse was built?’

‘Um ... not exactly,’ says Terry, ‘but we’re definitely getting closer ... now we’re in the year 65,000 BC.’

I open the lid of the bin. ‘Wow, look!’ I say. ‘Cave men!’

‘And cave women!’ says Terry. ‘And cave children and ... cave dogs!’

‘They don’t look very happy,’ I say.

‘No,’ says Terry. ‘They look kind of bored.’

‘Well, it’s no wonder, really,’ I say. ‘I mean, they are living in the Stone Age. All the really good stuff hasn’t been invented yet. There are no books, no TV, no treehouses! There’s nothing to do.’

'But what about drawing in the dirt with sticks?' says Terry. 'They could do that. They've got lots of sticks and plenty of dirt.'

‘Um,’ he says, ‘does the building permit office look like a pyramid?’

‘No,’ says the inspector.

‘Then I think we might be in Ancient Egypt,’ says Terry. ‘All I can see is sand, a Sphinx, palm trees and a big gold-topped pyramid that we’re about to smash into.’

BIN HUR

We swirl through time until the chronometer reads 65 BC and we start plummeting towards the ground. We land but this time we don't stop moving. I peep out of the lid and realise why.

We're hurtling along a chariot racing track in the middle of an Ancient Roman chariot race and, surprisingly, we don't seem to be doing that badly. It looks like we're in fourth place.

'Oh dear,' says the inspector. 'This looks dangerous.'

'Hey, look,' says Terry, 'an Ancient Roman Andy and an Ancient Roman Terry!'

Terry's right! Ahead of us are two chariots—one being driven by someone who looks a lot like Terry and the other by someone who looks a lot like me.

Coming up behind them is a scary-looking woman driving a chariot with big spikes on its wheels.

She is getting closer and closer to Ancient Roman Andy's chariot, and then the metal spike crashes through his wheel and smashes it to pieces!

His chariot skids wildly and tips over. Ancient Roman Andy is thrown from his chariot onto the racetrack.

TREE-NN

SPIKED WHEELS MAY BE HAZARDOUS TO HEALTH

He's still holding onto his horse's reins, though, and is being dragged along on his stomach.

'Ouch,' I say. 'That's gotta hurt!'

Our bin is slowing down but we're still moving fast enough to catch up to him.

I lean out and reach towards him. 'Give me your hand,' I say.

'What the maximus?' he says. 'Who are you?'

'No time to explain,' I say. 'Just do it.'

He reaches up with one hand while still holding his reins in the other. The inspector and Terry hold on to me as I lean out and pull him into the bin.

‘I am Andronicus Grillius,’ he says, ‘and I thank you.’ He snaps the reins. ‘YAH!’ he yells, urging his horse on.

With Andronicus driving, we are going much faster than we were before. We're back in the race!

‘We must beat Drusilla the Dreadful,’ says Andronicus, pointing to the driver of the chariot with spiked wheels. ‘She is the most feared and ruthless charioteer in Rome—she has already destroyed almost all the others.’

He's not kidding. There is chariot wreckage everywhere.

‘Those spiked wheels seem very dangerous,’ says the inspector. ‘Surely there must be rules of some sort! It just doesn’t seem right.’

‘Alas,’ says Andronicus, ‘chariot racing rules have not been invented yet, and now she is after my friend Terencius Densus.’

Drusilla is gaining on the only other chariot (apart from ours) left in the race.

She drives in close and uses her wheel spike to destroy Terencius’s wheel. He jumps from his wrecked chariot onto his horse and rides after Drusilla.

Andronicus drives our bin up beside Terencius. ‘Join us, friend,’ he calls.
Keeping hold of his horse’s reins, Terencius leaps into our bin.

‘This is highly irregular,’ says the inspector. ‘The maximum capacity for a bin this size is four. We’d better not take on any more passengers.’

‘Don’t worry,’ I say. ‘There’s nobody else left to take on. It’s just us versus Drusilla now.’

TREE-NN

WHEELIE BIN EXCEEDS MAXIMUM CAPACITY

With two horses pulling us we’re really starting to gain on Drusilla.
She looks back and glares at us.

‘I don’t like her,’ says Terry.

‘Me neither,’ says Terencius. ‘Nobody does.’

As we draw level, Drusilla the Dreadful veers towards us in order to wreck our bin with her terrible wheel spike. ‘Tibi delenda, losers!’ she snarls.

‘What does that mean?’ says Terry.

“‘You must be destroyed, losers’,’ says Andronicus.

TREE-NN UPDATE NEW POLL SHOWS DRUSILLA 100% DISLIKED

‘Not on my watch,’ says the inspector, unfurling a long roll of bubble wrap. ‘Hold on to me, lads!’ he says.

Terencius takes the reins while the rest of us hold on to Inspector Bubblewrap.

The inspector leans out, his head only centimetres from the lethal spinning spike ...

The swirling stops and we slowly fall to the ground.
‘Wow, smooth landing, Terry,’ I say. ‘Yeah,’ he says.
‘It’s like we practically floated down.’

I look at the gravity detector gauge on the instrument panel. ‘That’s because we did float down,’ I say. ‘Gravity is only one-tenth as strong here as it is in our time.’

‘And where—and when—exactly are we?’ says Inspector Bubblewrap. ‘We’re in the future,’ says Terry. ‘Sixty-five thousand years in the future!’

‘This is the worst time machine ever!’ I say.

‘No, it’s not,’ says Terry. ‘It’s a great time machine. It’s just the chronometer that’s not working properly.’

‘Well, it’s the worst chronometer ever, then,’ I say, smashing my head against the control panel in frustration ...

‘Stupid reduced gravity!’ I shout.

I see a flying fried-egg car heading straight towards the inspector. ‘Watch out!’ I say.

My warning comes too late. The car hits the inspector right in the head ... but it just bounces off!

‘I just got hit by a flying fried-egg car and I didn’t feel a thing!’ he says. ‘It would appear that the future is 100 percent danger-proof!’

‘All right!’ says Terry. ‘Let’s party!’

‘Look at me! I can run headfirst into this wall and I just bounce off!’

‘Look at me!’ I say. ‘I’m swimming in a tank full of man-eating sharks but their teeth are made of rubber so they can’t eat me!’

‘Look at me!’ says Inspector Bubblewrap. ‘I’m totally on fire but there’s no heat in the flames so it doesn’t hurt a bit!’

I look around. It’s a weird beach. The sea is black. The sky is red. Oh yeah, and we’re surrounded by giant crabs.

‘I can’t understand why there are giant crabs everywhere,’ says the inspector. ‘I’m sure I left the giant-crab eliminator button on back at Safety Central Headquarters.’

‘Um,’ says Terry, ‘I think I might have turned it off again when you weren’t looking. I couldn’t help it. I just really wanted to see a giant crab.’

‘You idiot, Terry!’ I say. ‘Thanks to you the future Earth is now overrun with giant crabs.’

‘Yeah, I know,’ says Terry, ‘and I’m sorry. But look on the bright side: giant crabs are pretty cool.’

‘Yeah, you’re right,’ I say, ‘they are extremely cool ... and very, very dangerous!’

‘It’s interesting, though,’ says Terry, ‘because this is just like what happens at the end of The Time Machine by H.G. Wells. The time traveller goes into the future as far as he can—almost to the end of time—and lands on a beach and there are giant crabs all over the place!’

‘I thought that book was fiction,’ I say.

As we swirl our way backwards through time, I have my fingers crossed we'll arrive safely back at the treehouse. It feels like we've been away for ages.

‘Hey, I can smell marshmallows!’ says Terry.

‘And lemonade!’ says the inspector.

‘And chocolate, pizza, ice-cream, lollipops, dodgem cars, popcorn and ants!’

‘So,’ I say to the inspector, ‘what do you think?’

‘I’ve inspected a lot of ramps in my time,’ he says, ‘but this is by far the most dangerous one I’ve ever seen ... I LOVE it!

He signs a piece of paper on his clipboard, hands it to us and says:

*‘The ramp you’ve built is perfect
And has earned my stamp of approval,
So your treehouse now has a permit
And there’s no need for its removal.’*

TREE-NN

PERMIT SIGNED: TREEHOUSE SAVED!

‘Cool!’ says Terry. ‘We can put the permit on the tree trunk right next to my certific-ant.’

The inspector shakes our hands and says:

*'And now there's nothing for me to do
But to go and cancel the wrecking crew.
And so I take my leave of you,
I bid the two of you adieu.'*

The inspector grabs a vine and swings down through the leaves and into the forest.

‘Now can I say it?’ says Terry.

‘Say what?’

‘That everything has worked out quite nicely.’

‘Not really,’ I say. ‘Because there’s still one thing we haven’t done.’

‘What thing?’ says Terry.

‘We still haven’t written our book and it’s due in at twelve o’clock!’

‘What time is it now?’

‘Almost twelve o’clock.’

‘Gulp!’ says Terry.

THE LAST CHAPTER

‘But it will be impossible to do the book by twelve o’clock,’ says Terry. ‘We haven’t even started it.’

‘Speak for yourself!’ I say. ‘I’ve done chapter one and I started chapter two but I had to stop because you were strangling me.’

‘Well, yes, but, technically, that wasn’t me,’ says Terry. ‘It was the ants pretending to be me.’

‘Well, yes, technically, but it was your fault the ants were so angry,’ I remind him.

‘Well, technically, yes,’ he says, ‘but, technically, you were responsible for them being angry as well.’

‘Well, if you want to get technical about it, yes, that’s true, but it was you who left the gate open.’

‘Well, technically, yes, but, technically ...’

‘Excuse me!’ shouts Jill through her micro-mini-megaphone. ‘Can I interrupt for a minute?’

‘Well, technically, you already have,’ I say.

‘Why don’t you just ask the ants to help you?’ she says.

'How could they help?' I say.

'They're very good at forming words—and pictures—and they can do it very fast,' says Jill. 'You saw how quickly they made the certific-ant.'

'But how could they write and illustrate a whole book?' I say. 'They don't even know the story.'

'Easy,' says Jill. 'You tell it to me and I'll tell it to them and they'll have it done in no time.'

‘Wow! Look at them go!’ says Terry. ‘They’re forming the pages right in front of our very eyes!’

'Okay,' says Terry.
'That's fine by me.
Please feel free
To see our tree.'

*This staircase of yours
Should have a railing
And no wheelchair ramp!
That's a serious failing!*

'Well thank you very much,
Young man.
I'll do my inspection
As far as I can.

*And where are your fire escapes,
Your hose reels and sprinklers,
Your safety blankets and fire extinguishers?
And I'd very much like to see (if I can)

Oh no—oh dear.'

ONCE UPON A SLIME

Is this the right book for you?

Take the SLIME TEST and find out.

- Have you ever wondered where ideas come from and how stories are made?
- Would you like to know the true stories behind some of Andy and Terry's books and characters?
- Would you like to discover 45 great ways to have fun with words and pictures?

SCORE: If you answered YES to any of these questions, then this is definitely the right book for you! If you answered NO to all of these questions then you are an IDIOT and this is DEFINITELY the right book for you!

Crammed full of examples from Andy and Terry's bestselling books, Once upon a Slime is designed to inspire you to have as much fun playing with ideas, words and drawings as Andy and Terry do when they get together to create their crazy cartoons, ridiculous rhymes, silly stories, comic novels and stupid guide books.

THE TREEHOUSE SERIES ANDY GRIFFITHS
AND TERRY DENTON
THE 13-STOREY TREEHOUSE

Who wouldn't want to live in a treehouse? Especially a 13-storey treehouse that has a bowling alley, a see-through swimming pool, a tank full of sharks, a library full of comics, a secret underground laboratory, a games room, self-making beds, vines you can swing on, a vegetable vaporiser and a marshmallow machine that follows you around and automatically shoots your favourite flavoured marshmallows into your mouth whenever it discerns you're hungry.

Two new characters – Andy and Terry – live here, make books together, and have a series of completely nutty adventures. Because: ANYTHING can happen in a 13-storey treehouse.

This is a major new series from Andy and Terry – and it's the logical evolution of all their previous books. There are echoes of the Just stories in the Andy and Terry friendship, the breakaway stories in the Bad Book (the Adventures of Super Finger), there's the easy readability of the Cat on the Mat and the Big Fat Cow, and like all these books, the illustrations are as much a part of the story as the story itself.

ANDY GRIFFITHS AND TERRY DENTON

THE 26-STOREY TREEHOUSE

Join Andy and Terry in their newly expanded treehouse, which now features 13 brand-new storeys, including a dodgem car rink, a skate ramp, a mud-fighting arena, an anti-gravity chamber, an ice-cream parlour with 78 flavours run by an ice-cream serving robot called Edward Scooperhands and the Maze of Doom – a maze so complicated that nobody who has gone in has ever come out again... well, not yet, anyway.

Well, what are you waiting for? Come on up!

ANDY GRIFFITHS AND TERRY DENTON
THE 39-STOREY TREEHOUSE

Join Andy and Terry in their astonishing 39-storey treehouse! Jump on the world's highest trampoline, toast marshmallows in an active volcano, swim in the chocolate waterfall, pat baby dinosaurs, go head-to-trunk with the Trunkinator, break out your best moves on the dance floor, fly in a jet-propelled swivel chair, ride a terrifying rollercoaster and meet Professor Stupido, the world's greatest UN-inventor.

Well, what are you waiting for? Come on up!

ANDY GRIFFITHS AND TERRY DENTON

THE 52-STOREY TREEHOUSE

Andy and Terry's incredible, ever-expanding treehouse has 13 new storeys, including a watermelon-smashing level, a wave machine, a life-size snakes and ladders game (with real ladders and real snakes), a rocket-powered carrot-launcher, a Ninja Snail Training Academy and a high-tech detective agency with all the latest high-tech detective technology, which is lucky because they have a BIG mystery to solve – where is Mr Big Nose???

Well, what are you waiting for? Come on up!

ANDY GRIFFITHS AND TERRY DENTON KILLER KOALAS FROM OUTER SPACE

This is a very silly book filled with very bad things.

There are bad ideas like eating dead flies, and silly people like the boy who unscrews his head and loses it forever. Then there are very bad things like bloodsucking grannies, rocket-stealing ants and, of course, killer koalas from outer space that come to earth and rip off your face.

A collection of stories from The Bad Book and The Very Bad Book that will make your brain EXPLODE!

ANDY AND TERRY'S WORLD OF STUPIDITY SERIES ANDY GRIFFITHS AND TERRY DENTON WHAT BODY PART IS THAT?

There is a lot of nonsense written about the human body, and this book is no exception. In its 68 fully illustrated, 100 per cent fact-free chapters, What Body Part is That? will explain everything you ever needed to know about your body without the boring technical jargon and scientific accuracy that normally clog up the pages of books of this type.

Never again will you be stuck for an answer when somebody comes up to you, points to a part of your body and demands to know: What Body Part is That? The crazy duo Andy Griffiths and Terry Denton have turned us all inside out in the Andy and Terry guide to the human body: What Body Part is That? is packed with incredible information on the brain, the bum, the spleen and so much more – this is one anatomical journey you don't want to miss. This fully illustrated stupid guide to the human body features the biggest, the smallest, the funniest, the stupidest and The Most Disgustingest parts of your body. It's divided into anatomically comprehensive sections such as:

- * The bits you can see
- * The bits you can't see

Packed with handy advice such as how to use your head as a bowling ball (the eye sockets and mouth make excellent holes for your fingers), you'll learn more than you ever wanted to know about just what the body does, what it can do, and what you hope it never does.

I liked him better when he was a human being.’

When Mr Brainfright dresses up in a banana costume to take on the role of school mascot, it looks like Northwest Southeast Central School might beat the bad sports of Northwest West West Academy for the first time ever. But then Mr Brainfright begins to think he really is a banana...

ANDY GRIFFITHS

ROBOT RIOT!

‘Roberta Flywheel is a robot!’ I said.
‘Are you for real, Henry?’ said Gretel.
‘Yes!’ I said. ‘unlike Roberta – or should I say ROBOT-a?!’

What do Henry and his friends at Northwest South East Central School do when they become convinced that the new girl is an evil robot with plans to destroy them all? They get school genius, Grant Gadget, to build an evil-robot-fighting robot, of course. What could possibly go wrong? Well, quite a lot, actually...

THE BUM SERIES ANDY GRIFFITHS AND TERRY DENTON
THE DAY MY BUM WENT PSYCHO

‘This is my story.

It really happened. It’s all true.

Not even the names have been changed.

Like most people I took my bum for granted. I agreed to tell my story in the hope that others could learn from it.

If this book can save even just one person from making the same mistake, then I will be happy.

Who knows?

The next bum it saves might be yours.’

Zack Freeman is ready to tell his story. The story of a boy, his runaway bum and some of the most dangerous bums in the world including kamikaze bums; nuclear bums; and Stenchgantor, the Great Unwiped Bum. With the help of The B-team (a crack bum-fighting unit comprising three of the best bum-fighters in the business: the Kicker, the Smacker and the Kisser), Zack will risk methane madness crossing the Great Windy Desert, death by stink-bog in the Brown Forest, and the perils of the Sea of Bums before finally descending into the heart of an explosive bumcano to confront the most psycho bum of them all – His own!

ANDY GRIFFITHS AND TERRY DENTON ZOMBIE BUMS FROM URANUS

Zack Freeman is back ... and so is his bum.

Aided by little more than a squeezezy bottle of tomato sauce, a rudimentary grasp of the hokey pokey and three of the oldest bum-fighters on the planet, Zack and his bum are fighting to protect the Earth against an invasion of some of the smelliest and most dangerous bums ever to pollute the universe:
zombie bums from Uranus!

Can they prevent the unthinkable – total zombie-bummification of the world?

Be bold, be brave, be entertained beyond your wildest dreams in the heart-stopping, nostril-blasting, zombie-bums-from-Uranus-filled sequel to The Day My Bum Went Psycho.

BUMAGEDDON: THE FINAL PONGFLICT

THE BLOCKBUSTING CONCLUSION TO THE UNIVARSEL
BESTSELLING BUM TRILOGY!

Zack Freeman and his bum thought their world-saving days were over – that is, until they are attacked by an army of Great White Bumosaurs from 65 million years ago!

Along with some old friends, they must travel back in time to save the world – again – from the pongflict to end all pongflicts: Bumageddon!

ANDY GRIFFITHS
THE DAY MY BUTT WENT PSYCHO

Zack Freeman woke out of a deep sleep to see his butt perched on the ledge of his bedroom window. 'No!' He yelled. 'Come back!' But it was too late. His butt jumped out of the window and landed with a soft thud in the garden bed below. Zack stared at the window and sighed. 'Oh no,' he said, 'Not again.'

So begins the story of a boy and his crazy runaway butt. A story so sensational, so stinky and so stupid it has to be read to be believed ... if you dare!

THE JUST! SERIES ANDY GRIFFITHS AND TERRY DENTON JUST TRICKING!

In Just Annoying! Andy firmly established himself as the world's most annoying person. But did you realise that he is also the world's leading practical joker? The ten hilarious stories in Just Tricking! confirm Andy's status as a class-one practical joker – the only problem is that his practical jokes usually end up backfiring!

In 'Playing Dead' Andy pretends that he is dead to get out of going to school, but when his parents prepare to bury him in the backyard he starts to wonder if it was such a clever idea after all! Other practical jokes include pretending that corn relish is vomit to make an old lady move seats on a plane, and dressing up as a gorillagram to embarrass his sister, Jen, at her birthday party.

Just Tricking! is full of highly original, and extremely funny stories. But above all, it is just pure fun!
